

I wanted to voice my opinion in support of Indiana Attorney General Steve Carter's telephone privacy law, and I wish to object to banks' or any other organizations' attempts to weaken that law. I have been very pleased to have freed myself from the endless stream of sales calls to my home during the evening hours. These calls are a nuisance to virtually everyone, and this law has received overwhelming support from Indiana voters.